The Bend Development Code (BDC) establishes the rules and regulations for development in Bend. The Planning Division provides guidance on the BDC and permits development such as commercial site plans, changes of use, signs, and more: including the establishment, relocating, and modification of childcare facilities. This reference guide is intended to help providers navigate City of Bend requirements.

For reference, MDS = Minimum Development Standards, and CUP = Conditional Use Permit.

What kind of childcare operation are you proposing? See definitions below of childcare types as defined by the BDC, and use the chart to determine the required review type.

Other City of Bend Community Development (CDD) Divisions with Childcare Requirements:

Building and Safety Division. Building code compliance often means additional life and safety requirements. Even if no work is proposed, changes in occupancy (for example: residential to commercial) can require review. Updates to residences and commercial buildings are common. See attached quick reference guide specific to Building Code requirements. Call or email the building division (building@bendoregon.gov, 541-388-5580 Ext 2), or visit the permit center.

Private Development Engineering Division (PDE). MDS review, Site Plan review, and CUPs could require additional review from PDE in the form of a Transportation Facilities Report (TFR) or a Sewer Water Analysis (SWA). These are separate applications that require submission by a professional engineer. These reviews are generally required for MDS applications where changes in use put increased demand on public facilities, and for most Site Plan or CUP applications. Call or email PDE to see if a TFR or SWA are required: engineering@bendoregon.gov or 541-388-5580 (Ext 4).

System Development Charges. System Development Charges (SDCs) are assessed at the time of building permit review and are based on the type and scope of new development. SDC fees are used to fund a portion of new street, sanitary sewer, parks, and water. Email Development Services (development@bendoregon.gov) with questions on what your business may be assessed. SDC estimates are highly encouraged.

Business Registration. If you are starting a new business, a Business Registration will be required. Renewals and changes in information must also be completed in a timely fashion for existing businesses. Contact businessregistration@bendoregon.gov for additional information.

Signage. If your proposal includes a new sign or new sign face, a separate sign permit is likely required. Check with sign code planner Kim Voos at kvoos@bendoregon.gov, or at 541-388-5530, and refer to the Sign Regulations, Processes and Permits webpage.

All CDD Divisions are available at the City of Bend Permit Center:
710 NW Wall Street, Bend OR 97701

Oregon Department of Education's Office of Childcare: Early Learning Division Licensing

A license is required for most childcare providers. Please note childcare definitions vary between Bend and the State of Oregon (most notably, the state refers to facilities with 17 or more children as "Child Care Centers").
